HIDDEN GOLD

BY WILDER ANTHONY

Canadian Rights Arranged With Publishers, F. D. Goodrich Co., 265 King St. West, Toronto.

"What is it, Bill?" the ranch owner demanded.

Stryder stamped back into the room, looking in a shamed sort of way.

"They done you," Gordon said.

"By the great horned toad, they do us!" The old cowboy cracked a bunch of shells into the hot coals and sneaked out the side door while he was shooting into the front room. By crack, that beat it.

"That's what," he said. "They do us." That's what, as well as his cramped tongue would permit, being now freed of the gag. "They gagged us first, so we're cracked, and when they filled up the stove, that beat it."

What had promised to be a tragedy had proved a farce, and Wade smiled a little foolishly.

"It's not over, I guess, boy," he admitted. "But we've got the ranch back at any rate. How are you feeling, Ed? pretty stiff and sore?"

"Toot-toot," declared Tom Parrish, the second of the victims; and the third man groaned roundly that he had not yet got the full use of his legs before Christmas.

"Well, you're lucky at that," was Stryder's dry comment. "All that saving you from getting shot down in the light was just in that corner where you was?"

He let his eyes travel around the littered blood-spattered floor. "The looks of those shepherds, we musta thought of 'em pretty deep; but nobody was killed, I reckon. I hope Moran was the worst hurt, dumb him."

Wade said grimly.

"We've not done with him yet, Bill. We've only just begun."

CHAPTER X.

The Senator Gets Busy

It was daylight when the routed posse, with Race Moran in the lead, his left arm tied up in a bloodstained bandage, was led across the Bear's Water. A bullet had pierced the fleshly part of the agent's wrist, a trifling wound, but that one which gave him his disability. So long as he had suffered from a serious injury, the rest of the members of the posse had been dangerously wounded; indeed, they had suffered from the split-second bullet, but there had been a number of minor casualties amongst the men, which made a sufficiently bloody display to arouse the little town to a feverish pitch.

Under instructions from the leader, however, the fugitives kept grouchily silent, so that curiously was it to be seen on the trail of Wade, the temper, and the fact that he had brought about Stryder's release from jail. The story of that achievement, however, was to be told later. Wade, since midnight, together with the probability that the Law would be invoked to punish the ranchman for his daring, had been running high on the likelihood of such a step being taken, and the members of the posse were the targets of many hostile glances. Wade, too, was not without fear, for the citizens were strongly in favor of Wade, but before they took active

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Smith Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Trenton, Ont.—I am writing to you in regard to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not be without it if I have to go through life before each of my children is born again. Before my first baby was born I had shortness of breath, and it seemed as though it would bring me to my deathbed. After a few months of treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I never pull through, and my husband told him what the Vegetable Compound had done for him, and advised him to take a bottle home for me. After a few days I began to feel better during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work more effectively as nature intended. Thousands of women testify to this fact.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for all sorts of trouble, and I have used it during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system, so that it may work more effectively as nature intended. Thousands of women testify to this fact.

steps in his behalf they waited for the end of the torture, and he had never come to the ranch to learn at first hand exactly what had happened there.

Meanwhile Moran, in an ugly mood, had been trying to sleep, but the troubled sleep which had come to him after much wakeful tossing. Rexhill, with tousled hair, wrapped in a bathrobe, the belt of which he had have ankles and slipped feet protruded, sat on the edge of his bed, impatiently chewing an unlighted cigar while he listened to Moran's account of the night.

"You went too far, Race—you went too far," he burst out angrily at last.

"I had no orders to jump the ranch. I told you."

"I've been fooling around long enough, Senator," Moran interrupted sharply, nursing his burning wrist. "I've had enough. You can't afford something, and when I saw my chance I seized it. You seem to think—" his voice trembled with anger. "That we are playing marbles with it, but, I tell you, it's more than an against. My experience has shown me that it's the first blow that counts in any fight."

"Well, who is in the hardest tick, Senator?" asked the agent, smiling.

The first blow's all right, provided the second isn't a knock-out from the other side. Why, confound it, Race, we're not in the same boat."

Moran snarled an imprecation.

"You seem to forget, Senator, that we had him at our mercy before and you wouldn't hear of it. If I'd had my way, I'd have cracked a bunch of shells into the hot coals and sneaked out the side door while we was shootin' into the front room. By crack, that beat it."

The Feathered Glider

Man-o'-War Bird Taken As Model For Airplanes

A model for airplanes and gliders, is the Man-o'-War bird, which calmly floats through the air, without moving its wings for hours at a time. Sometimes ascending in spirals, to a high altitude, or drifting lazily along, it directs its easy flight by changes of the angle of its "planes" so slight as to be almost imperceptible. The bird which is distinctly tropical, is impressive by reason of its size and the wide stretch of its long narrow wings, measuring nearly eight feet across. When thousands of these birds, in one great flock soon on motionless plumes, they appear like an aerial army of invasion. The German scientists, who bent their energies toward the perfecting of "gliders," made their first experiments with caged birds. Into the great cages in which birds of various kinds were kept, they pumped air currents, noting carefully the effect with these would have upon the flight of the birds. The success which the "gliders" has attained through science, is being more and more demonstrated every day.

At least sixty per cent. of a dentist's patients are women. The other forty per cent. are men and children. There are two reasons for this; one is that women more frequently consult the dentist because they are more careful of their health and appearance and the other is that women's teeth actually are more subject to decay than men's.

The teeth of women are of the same structure as are the teeth of men and are expected to perform the same work but they usually do not get the chance because women do not eat foods that require as much vigorous chewing as those men select.

One of the duties of the great majority of women is either to prepare or supervise the preparation of food for the household. The element of surprise in what the next meal has in store is absent and the inhalation of the odors of cooking good foods what little "edge" there is left to the appetite. In addition, the preparation of food requires more or less frequent tasting of savory mixtures.

Women as a rule are satisfied to eat

the softer and more highly flavored foods and sweetened desserts.

As a result their teeth do not get the vigorous exercise that men's teeth

do.

This lack of vigorous chewing allows the mucus of the saliva to stick to

to the teeth and the debris of soft food packets between and around the teeth.

Unless the teeth are most carefully cleaned with the brush at least twice each day and in addition are given a prophylactic treatment by the dentist occasionally, food and much will decompose and form an ideal soil for the growth of the bacteria of decay.

Where there is decomposition of food, organic acids are formed that attack the enamel of the teeth and make the work of the bacteria very easy.

As the teeth decay, the packing of food becomes more extensive and the gums are inflamed and bleed easily.

All inflammation of the gums tends toward the establishment of that of all enemies of the teeth—pyorrhea.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give comfort and permanent relief.

Mrs. Alice Bishop, 15 Haworth Ave., Hamilton, Ont., writes:

"I take pleasure in recommending Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to all people who are in bad health."

I suffered from palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath; my heart would skip beats and race, and I could not get up to get my breath. I could not go up stairs without my heart fluttering, and my nerves were all unstrung, but I found Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to be a great help.

SOME IMPROVEMENT (?)

The other day we overheard a prominent prohibitionist argue that conditions in the United States had very much improved since the government decided to rigidly enforce the prohibition act, but judging from the following from a recent issue of a Philadelphia paper, one must feel that Canada is not the only country in the world in which the "higher-ups" in authority can be bribed.

Read this: "Harold L. Smith, local factor called the Soldier Settlement broker and former Intercollegiate sprint champion, who has pleaded grants who come here. They are guilty to conspiracy to defraud the able not only to bring immigrants to government in connection with the proper sections of the country on shipment of 9000 drums of alcohol which they can be placed, but they can explain to them what should be testified that Matthew F. Griffin, former chief of the United States Secret Service in Philadelphia received $29,200 for his part in the alleged conspiracy."

Change of venue from Macleod to Calgary in the libel action brought by A. A. McGillivray, K.C., against J. W. McDonald, ex-K.C., was granted by Mr. Justice Walsh on Monday. The date of hearing has not been set. This action arises out of a letter by Mr. McDonald, published in the Enterprise, addressed to Attorney-General Brewster, in which the former Macleod law practitioner criticized the government's handling of certain U.S. cases and in which Mr. McGillivray's name was mentioned.

OTTAWA, March 17.—Introducing the estimates of the department of immigration and colonization in the House of Commons, Hon. Charles Stewart made his explanatory statement of government policy. Regarding the men whom it is proposed to attract to vacant Canadian farms, Mr. Stewart said he proposed to give them the full advantage of the experience of the Field Supervisors of the Soldier Settlement Board for at least the next two years. He did not intend to propose supervision longer than was absolutely necessary, but he thought that for this year and next year the government would maintain that force of men because he believed they had been the greatest contributing factor to the success of the scheme so far.

Since last year the proportion of success among soldier settlers had been considerably greater. In spite of the fact that throughout Canada there had been a more or less unsatisfactory year in agriculture, the need for salvaging the soldier who had been placed on the land had perhaps reached the lowest point, notwithstanding the discouragements experienced. That, perhaps, was not true of the Province of Alberta, where a very severe drought was experienced last year throughout the northern portion where so many soldiers had settled.

The Field Supervisor of the Board would be available to render assistance to new settlers. The government was advertising in the Old Country and elsewhere the fact that the settler would come and get expert advice from those men with respect to where he should locate, with respect to value of the land and with respect to how he should take advantage of the conditions confronting him.

Later on, Mr. Stewart, in reply to questions by Mr. Cahill and the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, stated that the government had in view two distant services to be placed at the disposal of new settlers. The service the Soldier Settlement Supervisor would render would be that he, in a larger way, would be available to the settler what was paid for the lands."

Mr. Shaw, of Calgary, asked if he would favor the extension of the principles of the Soldier Settlement Board to other than soldier settlers. "Yes, I would," replied Mr. Marler; "I am quite frank in saying that I believe the Soldier Settlement Board, if extended in other directions, would prove a great colonization agency in this country and that the money would be very well spent if set aside for the purpose of bringing in people and colonizing them and keeping them on the land. As proof that I do not think the country would lose a single dollar by a policy of that description, I cite the splendid work that the Soldier Settlement Board has done in regard to settling returned soldiers. When they bought their land they had not as great experience as they have now, and if they were out now and bought land of this description and put suitable families of settlers onto these lands, the money would be well spent in the interests of this country."

The discussion lasted the entire day.

The debt of the Dominion of Canada before the war (1913) was $34,301,026, compared with $2,422,115,892 in 1922, or $39,291 and $276,220 per capita respectively. The current revenue in 1913 was $168,689,093, and in 1922 $381,952,287, or $210.8 and $43.55 per capita respectively.

Palatka News:
The Newspaper starts in
When you are born,
And tells about your sweethearts
It follows you to school,
And prints the honor roll
If your name is found there,
It tells of your graduation
And speaks of the excellence
Of your magnificent essay;
It tells of your progress
During your college career
And then dilates much about
The choice of your location.
Then it gives a nice notice
About your marriage
And praises the blushing bride
Till her kinsfolk don't know her,
Then in due course of events,
It tells about the bouncing baby
That happens in your family—
Thereby beginning its life work
All over and over again.
The newspaper does all this
And it does also much more.
It tells of the progress
Made by city and country
And boosts all enterprises;
Gives free advertising
Worth thousands of dollars
To its home town.
There are seeds of things
That all good newspapers do
For which they cannot be paid.
That is why every citizen
Should do his darndest
To support the newspaper.
At every possible way
At 'em! the time.
Yankee.
Thank you.

ON A LAWYER

A Crows' Nest Pass attorney was examining a witness in court the other day.

"Have you ever been arrested before?" he asked the man.

"No, sir!" the witness answered emphatically.

"Have you ever been in this court before?"

"No, sir!"

"Are you sure of that?"

"Yes, sir!"

Your face looks very familiar—very familiar." Where have I seen you before?"

"Well, sir," the witness calmly answered, "before the country went dry I was bartender in the saloon across the street from here."

"WHAT YOUR HUSBAND NEEDS"

"One night my husband came home looking so ill and worn out that I thought he would faint. I knew he was having trouble with his heart for some time but I could not get him to tell me what it was. Finally he confessed he was tired and sore all over. I made him go to bed. Next morning he was up and going to work although he was something but well. I knew that his trouble was partly due to worry because he was afraid there would not be enough to eat for the children. We were so poor that we had to keep the children from school because they had no clothes. I knew that if I could only get a house and some land we could earn everything would be all right. He is a carpenter by trade and when in good health earns good wages and he is always saving something. But I knew that it was impossible for any man to do good work when he was ill and worried. I decided to speak to our old family doctor, who had retired from practice. When I explained my trouble he gladly offered to do all he could to help us, although he didn't like to interfere with the new doctor's practice. Finally he said, 'What your husband needs is a rest. You are right, he is not strong and that is most important his wages have been more than doubled and he is now superintendent of the wood working shop in which he formerly worked. That is all. There are no more troubles are over and we are once more a happy and contented family.'

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea".

Taxation

People the world over have one grievance in common—that is the heavy burden of taxation they are called upon to bear in order to provide the costs of government, national, provincial. It makes no difference whether a man is rich or poor—today one and all are complaining on the score of the taxes they are called upon to pay.

Modern forms of democratic government have their drawbacks over the old autocratic, but it must be admitted they are far less complicated and less arbitrary. Under the autocratic system, the so-called classes and the rich largely escaped taxation, and the burden was, for the most part, imposed on the masses, the poor. The position today is radically different, and in very large measure, the rich are now taxed in proportion to their means of wealth.

The Great War was largely responsible for the enormous expenditure and enormous waste of those terrible years. With human liberty and civilization at stake, it became necessary to drain every national resource.

In Great Britain, for example, hundreds of people are being taxed by taxation on incomes, taxes on savings, taxes on savings tickets, bank cheques, notes, receipts, and documents and services of many kinds.

Prior to the war, Canada was known as the great untaxed country. Apart from Customs and Excise levies, the Dominion Government imposed no direct taxation on the people.

Under the new autocratic system, the so-called classes and the rich largely escaped taxation, and the burden was, for the most part, imposed on the masses, the poor.

The position today is radically different, and in very large measure, the rich are now taxed in proportion to their means of wealth.

The Great War was largely responsible for the enormous expenditure and enormous waste of those terrible years. With human liberty and civilization at stake, it became necessary to drain every national resource.

In Great Britain, for example, hundreds of people are being taxed by taxation on incomes, taxes on savings, taxes on savings tickets, bank cheques, notes, receipts, and documents and services of many kinds.

But the war placed a staggering burden of debt on the nine million people who make up the Canadian Confederation. Taxation is the service we must pay our debts and civilization. Let us protest against it. Sure, not.

Democrats have their weaknesses; they are the weaknesses of human nature.

In this age people demand services, conveniences, comforts, understandings, of one, two or three generations, and by the exercise of their franchises through the ballot, the people demand and instruct their representatives in charge of government to expend the money necessary to provide what they thus demand. In carrying out these instructions, Governments must resort to taxation in order to meet the expenditures incurred.

They must, and must not, tax the same people twice.

Furthermore, there has developed of recent years an almost universal demand that Governments shall provide services for all the people which in former times people either went without or provided for themselves.

It is a very natural for any Government to do this, and the Municipal, all manner of problems for solutions. Let an individual group of individuals, or community get into difficulties and their first thought is to appeal to the Government.

"Let me tell you about it!"—George, in the final analysis, being Government of one form or another.

But these advocates of ever-increasing expenditures and responsibilities by the people of the various sections keeping their own skins free, and also becoming sufficiently informed regarding other parts of the country to avoid making charges of sectionalism when they are not warranted.

The more the people of Canada travel within their own country the better for mutual understanding and national unity. Members of Parliament should know the whole country fairly well, and since the general prosperity depends so largely upon conditions in the west there is a special reason why they should know this part of the country.

Mr. John Williams' suggestion is an eminently practical one—Manitoba Free Press.

The result of heavy taxation is in the hands of the people themselves.

It can only be found by the public discontinuing the present habit of looking through their own individual or community effort.

B.C. Salmon Pack

Canada's Forest Fire Plague

Virtually at $11,500,000, the British Columbia salmon pack has increased according to figures compiled by the Provincial Department of Fisheries. These figures have been exceeded only on four occasions since statistics have been compiled during the past twenty-six years and the most recent was in 1919, when the total was 1,393,156 cases.

Unsatisfying

Some people expect that legislation will cure all the ills of humanity. It reminds one of the fellow who, when the baby cried for milk in the night, got up and gave the baby a milk ticket.

Oldest Map

The oldest map in existence is a piece of mosaics in a Byzantine church at Mabba, in Palestine. It represents part of the Holy Land, and is 1,700 years old.

Licensed Country Elevators

Prairie Elevators Have Storage Capacity of Over One Hundred Million Bushels

A total of 2,700 licensed country elevators in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, a total capacity of grain storage of more than 100,000,000 bushels, according to a statement made before the Royal Commission investigating lake freight rates. At Fort William and Port Arthur 33 private and public elevators will accommodate 56,819,000 bushels. Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces have elevators with grain storage capacity amounting to 32,180,000 bushels.

It Works Wonders

On Colds, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Weak Throat

When your throat rattles, your lungs and chest are sore, your throat is inflamed with catarrh, or you are suffering from bronchitis, it is best to clear the throat, stop hacking, relieve tight chest and soreness in the bronchial tubes. To clear away the phlegm, take a glass of warm water, add a few drops of Lye, stir well, drink it and you will feel much better. Catarrh is Nature's own remedy—it heals and soothes—removes every form of throat, lung and bronchial trouble.

But Richeborough figured in history even more conspicuously long ago.

He was the man which Roman legions landed and embarked during their long domination of Britain. For nearly 400 years it was a busy town.

All sorts of remains have been dug up there from time to time. The number of Roman coins found reaches 140,000.

Now a systematic excavation of the site of the Roman city is to be carried out by the Society of Antiquaries, and it is hoped that our knowledge of the Romans in Britain will be increased.

Had Kidney Trouble and Found Relief

By Otis S. Sawin, in the April Popular Mechanics Magazine

That's Why Cleopatra Spoke So Highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills

She Suffered with Pains in Her Kidneys and after Taking Dodd's Kidney Pills her Pains Disappeared.

Mistassini, Que.—(Special)—I was not able to walk because of pain in my kidneys, said Madame Cleopatra Dodd, a well-known resident here. "I took a few boxes and was able to start work again. After continuing taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, the pain has completely disappeared."

It is statistics like the above that have made Dodd's Kidney Pills a household word throughout Canada.

The satisfaction Dodd's Kidney Pills are giving as a remedy for Kidney troubles is shown by the large number of people who buy them all over the country.

They have learned that the proper way to avoid serious forms of kidney disease, such as rheumatism, diabetes, dropsy and heart disease, is to combat the early symptoms of kidney trouble.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen the kidneys.

SPRING WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The Canadian Spring weather—one day mild and bright; the next raw and blustery. It is extremely hard on the baby. Conditions are little better for the mother, who is often forced to leave the fresh air so much to be desired. He is confined to the house which is often over-heated and badly ventilated. He is cold, his belly is disordered and the mother soon has a sick baby to look after. To prevent this an oral enema of Dodd's Kidney Pills should be given. They regulate the stomach and bowels, thus preventing or relieving colic, constipation, fever, colds or any other of the many complaints of childhood. These pills are sold in medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Critical Period Over

Racial Animosity is Declining, Thinks Viceroy of India

The Viceroy of India, Lord Hardinge, believes that racial animosity in India has begun to decline, and that a closer cooperation in advancing the work of reform is now to be expected. He expressed these views at a recent dinner of the European Association at Calcutta.

"We have gone through some anxious times," he continued, "but the worst of the critical period now is over. There have been days of great strain, but we pursued our path fully convinced that it was right to continue to administer the law, laid upon order while, at the same time, having regard to the legitimate susceptibilities of Indians and also to our responsibilities to His Majesty's Government and to the Indian Parliament at home."

"I know not what the future may bring. I cannot picture to myself what the end will be when I leave India. It is then if I then feel here that I have contributed to secure, by however small a step, the peace and prosperity of India, I shall feel sufficiently rewarded."

Try To Apprehend Parties Responsible For Shipment Of Liquor

Winnipeg—Police agents are seeking important figures in the coast bootlegging ring responsible for shipping $25,000 worth of fine wines and whiskies to the Dominion Lumber and Fuel Company of Winnipeg, camouflaged as shingles. Arrests are expected either at Calgary or Vancouver or at both places.

Officials of the company here refused to receive the car as bulletins when reported by the railway company and declared the name of the alleged shippers were spurious. The company has no branch at the coast and was not interested in what the company officials supposed was an ordinary lumber shipment misdirected. The railway investigation that followed disclosed the character of the contents, and the police confiscated the whole shipment, both the railway officials and the fuel company aiding the authorities. The details given at Vancouver point to the fictitious persons responsible for the transportation of the 225 cases of assorted rare vintages are still unknown.

The disclosures are believed to be the key the authorities have been seeking for some time as to the identity of persons connected with wholesale bootlegging in Manitoba and the Lake of the Woods District. The contraband was completely covered with shingles and it is believed the shippers planned, as a part of the scheme, to divert the car by wire at the last moment to an address between Winnipeg and Fort William. This is not unusual in lumber, which is frequently sent from the coast on the shipping-in-transit rate, and diverted by wire orders of the shippers to other points as the market is developed for lumber. The fact that no Bill of lading accompanied the car, but was retained by the shippers, is believed to be evidence of this phase of the plot. This obviously connects with the original conjecture in Vancouver, Calgary, and by presenting this evidence of ownership, the car could be diverted without the company to which it was originally directed in Winnipeg being aware that their name had been used to camouflage the horse movement. This, however, involved giving a fictitious name in a transportation transaction, which is a violation of a clause of the Railway Act.

The Briquetting Experiments

Senator Claims That Blenfait Tests Are Dismal Failure

Ottawa.—The expenditure of $900,000 on briquetting experiments at Blenfait, Sask., of which one-half was paid by the Dominion Government and a quarter each by Manitoba and Saskatchewan, has turned up in the Senate by Senator Casgrain.

He felt that a committee to investigate this expenditure should be appointed. He also recommended that efforts be made to utilize the plant for some other purpose. The experiments had been a hopeless failure, he said.

Senator Turif recommended that a further small expenditure be made to complete the experiments.

A Unique Memorial

Calgary.—The Colonial MacLeod Chapter, Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, is erecting an imposing war memorial in front of the public library. Coeur de Lion McCarthy, of Montreal, is the sculptor. The figure is of bronze and depicts a youth, virile, energetic, spontaneous, attired in full kit, just receiving the news of the armistice.

Changes Are Proposed In Amending Bill Of The Bank Act

Ottawa.—The collapse of the Merchants' Bank and the interpretation afterwards put on the publicity sections of the Bank Act are reflected in changes proposed in the amending bill, the text of which is available.

In regard to the bills on which banks are required to make to the Finance Department and which are subsequently given to the public, the bill proposes no change in the designation of the officers who sign the return, but it is provided that such returns shall be deemed to have been prepared, approved and concurred in by the persons severally who have signed the bank.

"It shall not," the bill says further, "except to the chief accountant or senior chief accountant of the bank, be sufficient . . . that such returns agree with the books of the bank, but the return shall set forth the true financial position of the bank, according to the latest information possessed by, or reasonably available to, the officers, or any of them who sign the return."

Again, "the president, vice-president, or director acting as president, and the general manager, or, the other principal officers of the bank who have severally signed any such return, shall be deemed to have ascertained the true financial position of the bank."

Manitoba Farmers Discuss Wheat Board

Strong Feeling Expressed that Plan Will Not Work Satisfactorily

The proposed new wheat board, consisting of 50 leading farmers of the district met for the purpose of pronouncing their views in anticipation of a wheat board bill being introduced into the Manitoba Legislature.

Among the representative farmers who spoke were E. Muir, for many years reeve of the rural municipality of Portage la Prairie, who was born in Manitoba and has spent most of his life farming upon a large scale at High Bluff; Joseph Trimble, President of the High Bluff local of the United Farmers of Manitoba; Frank Baker, a representative of the Farmers' Advocate; Thomas Klassen, a prominent farmer of Portage Plains; J. Tidbury, another leading farmer of High Bluff, who farms upon much the same scale as Mr. Muir; Charles Grob, (Grob), another old-timer of Manitoba and a large farmer himself; W. McKenzie, another member of the Portage local of the U.F.M.; and many others.

Mr. Muir stated that he would be rather loath to others than talk himself, but felt that the desire of the farmers to secure a better price for their wheat would not be accomplished by a wheat board; in fact, the 1919 wheat board was designed, he said, to keep prices from going higher, to stabilize financial conditions and stave off financial panic.

Comments now were not the same as in 1919, in this year, said Mr. Muir, all allied interests, not only had that condition changed, but the powers provided in the federal bill for the wheat board now proposed were short of the powers which the 1919 board possessed. During war, governments could exercise all manner of compulsory powers which could not be called into play in times of peace.

The 1919 board had power over transportation; it had power over terminals at the head of the Great Lakes—full control, in fact; it had control over milling and flour and also had the friendly co-operation of the grain trade and those who owned handling facilities.

The proposed board for 1923 would not have those powers; and in spite of having these powers, the 1919 board did not succeed in its efforts from the standpoint of securing better prices for the farmers. The average price secured by United States farmers during the operations of the 1919 board was 60 cents per bushel higher than the $2.63 secured by the Canadian farmers for No. 1 Northern. As a matter of fact, many farmers adjacent to the international boundary, hauled their grain across and secured the higher prices.

There was no duty on wheat in 1919 and had not been for the wheat board the Canadian farmer would have got a far better price than he did. Controlling the millers, the 1919 board was able to take proportion of flour profits into its revenues; that could not be done this year. In view of the new powers provided by the 1923 board, he felt that it would be a safe bet for western farmers to have a wheat board established this year. Having no control over transportation, none over flour and none over terminals, the board would be a mere selling agency to be financed by the provinces. Under these conditions it was impossible of success.

Neither Premier Dunning nor Premier Bracken had much faith in the proposal, declared Mr. Muir. Mr. Wood of Allard, the chief man behind the demand for a board to control and stabilize the market—but the only way it could control it would be by raiding the flow of grain, and if old country millers and buyers refused wheat by the board when he wanted it, they would buy elsewhere and leave a lot of wheat without a market, on the Canadian farmers' hands. Mr. Muir cited figures to show that from 1908 to 1916 there were only two years out of the eight when it might have paid a farmer to hold his wheat. Generally speaking it would carry on if he received only 75 per cent, or less, of the wheat he harvested.

It wheat were around a dollar a bushel, declared Mr. Muir; the board could not afford to pay the farmer more than 75 cents as an initial payment, and they would have to wait 14 or 15 months for the balance. He did not see how any farmer in the west could carry on if he received only 75 per cent, or less, of the wheat he harvested.

Mr. Joseph Trimble, President of the High Bluff local of the U.F.M., declared that he was opposed to the wheat board for many of the same reasons as advanced by Mr. Muir. There were no financial arrangements that could be worked out, he said, under the proposed plan. Without control of transport, terminals and flour, it was a poor, weak and lame attempt to handle the wheat crop of this country. He added: "The western prairie provinces have harvests later than ours and have not the railway facilities that we have, and owing to the distances that we have, they can't market it as early in the fall as we do. But when we market 12 per cent of our crop before Saskatchewan, even gets in at all, and about 55 or 56 per cent. of our crop is marketed in the first 2 months of the season, we would be sacrificing an awful lot to Saskatchewan and Alberta in the way of premiums. Take the records of the Winnipeg grain exchange, and the Chicago grain exchange, the latter for 60 or 65 years; the winter price has loomed very largely as the chief basis; we would be sacrificing an awful lot to the western provinces in going for a wheat board, but I think that the men who had wanted a wheat board, Mr. Trimble regretted that the roads and streets precluded 40 or 50 farmers from getting to the market, and the result of the views expressed might result in more and larger meetings at which the proposal for a wheat board could be very thoroughly discussed."

Mr. Grob, in closing the meeting, declared that there had been a strong reaction from the wheat board idea, and that after the three months it favored a wheat board, were now entirely opposed to it.

Plan Of Senate Reform Submitted To Commons By Minister Of Finance

EXEMPT FROM TAXATION

NO CANADIAN TAX UPON AMERICANS WORKING IN CANADA BUT LIVING IN U.S.

Ottawa.—United States citizens working in Canada but resident in the United States will remain exempt from Canadian income tax.

Under an amendment to the Canadian Income Tax Act passed last session, authority was given to make United States citizens working in, but not resident in Canada, liable to come tax, while the United States granted exemption to Canadians similarly situated. The amendment was to go into effect by proclamation, but in view of the recent act of Congress conferring exemption on Canadians working, but not resident in the United States, the Canadian amendment will not be proclaimed.

Spring Rush In Yukon

All Means of Transportation Being Used to Carry Ore

Dawson.—The spring rush is on in the Yukon. The overland trail from White Horse to Dawson and Mayo with horse and dog teams and hikers bound northward. The White Pass shippers are operating at full blast repairing the upper Yukon river fleet.

A ten-ton caterpillar tractor with three trailers hauling five tons of freight each has started over the trail from White Horse for Mayo, a distance of 300 miles, the first journey of its kind ever undertaken over Yukon trails.

So many individual silver miners are producing at Keno Hill in addition to two big companies, that every horse, dog team, automobile sleigh and caterpillar in the district has been crowded into service, rushing ore to Mayo Landing before the snow disappears. It is expected that 8,000 tons will be transported before April 1.

Saskatchewan House Is Prorogued

Final Passage of Some Thirty Bills on Order Paper

Regina.—After being in session 30 working days, the Saskatchewan Legislature was prorogued at 10:30 Thursday night.

In proroguing the third session of the Saskatchewan legislature, Mr. H. Morris, the acting Lieutenant Governor, made reference to the new enactments simplifying and making less expensive the process of debt collections; the provisions made for the treatment of tuberculosis; the creation of a department of health, and the passage of resolutions for presentation to the Federal Government.

While the last day's work consisted principally of the completion in committee and final passage of some thirty bills still on the order paper, a couple of announcements of interest were made in connection with the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission and the proposed cruise to Hudson's Bay through the straits to be organized by eastern interests.

In proroguing with the former Premier he had not received any reply from Ottawa to his query, the House would have to main itself with the assumption that the province already has sufficient authority to confer powers on the commission with respect to the inquiry so far as it affected the interests of this province.

With respect to the trip to Hudson's Bay, the Premier announced the Government was of the opinion they should not be represented on the cruise, but that steps were being taken by some of the western provinces to organize an official trip to the Bay over the H.B. Railway during 1923.

The report of the committee on agriculture, which has been investigating the question of the application of the quota system, was referred to the druggists under the authorization of the Saskatchewan Liquor Commission recommending changes in methods of handling these supplied was adopted by the House without discussion.

Prince Henry Meets With Accident

London.—Prince Henry, third son of King George, was thrown while exercising a horse at the cavalry school at Aldershot.

According to the Daily Mail, the Prince suffered a slight concussion of the brain, but is recovering satisfactorily.

Used More Funds

Quebec.—The funds for the rebuilding of Quebec Basiliques now stand at $15,000. In order to completely restore the Quebec Basiliques, it would have been necessary to have a bad effect on the co-operative plan it was

Ottawa.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, submitted to the House of Commons a scheme of Senate reforms. In brief, his scheme as he emphasized that he was not speaking for the Government, but expressing a personal view—provided for a nominating Senate known as—

(1)—One half nominated by the Senate is now nominated by the motion amendment to the Canadian Income Tax Act passed last session.

(2)—One half nominated by the Provincial governments and to be known as Provincial Senators.

The nominations would be for a period of ten years, with eligibility for a second ten years.

At eighty years of age Senators would be retiring. Mr. Fielding would not disturb existing Senators, but would give them the right to retire at 75 on a pension of two-thirds of their present indemnity.

He was opposed to a popularly elected upper house, fearing it would become a rival of the House of Commons.

Previously, J. J. Denis, Liberal member for Joliette, presented a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to permit of a popularly elected Senate. Mr. Denis, drawing parallels with the United States and other countries, declared that the Canadian method of appointing a Senate was an obsolete system of the federal house.

Comparing Canada with other parts of the British Empire, Mr. Denis said Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and Ireland all had elective senates. Thus, Canada was the only one of the five great British Dominions which had not an elective system. Austria, Belgium, France and Czechoslovakia all had an elective system, although the French system was indirect. The French system he thought, was the best in the world.

"Our system is an absolutely obsolete system of the Middle Ages and should not be maintained any longer," he said. Progressives voting approval.

U.S. Asks Canada To Shelter Russians

May Be Deported As Quota Exhausted

New York.—Refused entry into the United States because their country's quota is exhausted up to July, seafarers Russian immigrants are awaiting deportation on Ellis Island.

Immigration Commissioner Todd got into touch with Canadian immigration authorities and announced that the Russians measure up to the Canadian immigration requirements that they might find a temporary refuge in Canada. It is expected that, if they are allowed to enter the Dominion, they will remain only until after July 1, when they can be admitted to the United States.

New Assessment for Winnipeg

Winnipeg.—Without taking the evidence of real estate interests and others fighting for a lower assessment, the Board of Valuation and Revision delivered a judgment calling for a new assessment for the whole of the city. Revision of the assessment rolls will be started immediately, as the taxes for 1923 are due on June 15.

Discuss Possibility Of Shipping Alberta Coal To Eastern Provinces

Ottawa.—It might be laid down as an axiom," said Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways, giving evidence before the Senate Fuel Committee, that Canada should not be dependent on a neighboring state, no matter how friendly A. C. Crerar had spoken against the board at the convention in Brandon.

Thomas Allard, who is in favor of a wheat board, admitting at the same time the disadvantage to Manitoba in the loss of premises, profits and grading, Mr. Trimble made a swift retort. He said in part, "Are we not on $50, $60 and $65 an acre? We have a lot of land and we have a lot of water power. If we have a lot of water power, we have a lot of coal."

Mr. Trimble added that Hon. A. C. Crerar had spoken against the board at the convention in Brandon.

Mr. Trimble added that Hon. A. C. Crerar had spoken against the board at the convention in Brandon.

"It looks fairly hopeful," said Sir Henry when questioned on the possibility of bringing Alberta coal to Ontario and Quebec and selling it in competition with the American product. But railway rates must not be too low to eat the throat of the railway."

Canada had coal. The question was one of transportation.

"First," proceeded Sir Henry, "we must see if we can establish such rates as will enable our own coal to be sold in Ontario and Quebec in competition with foreign coal without impairing the revenues of the railroads."

"Where does your system get its coal supply in Western Canada?" Sir Henry was asked.

"From the Alberta field," he replied.

Alberta coal was used on the Canadian National Railways as far east as Winnipeg. He thought Nova Scotia coal would always have a tendency to take advantage of the water route.

Sir Henry was asked if it would not be difficult to raise the rate on coal supposing it was reduced temporarily to meet an emergency. He replied that it might be difficult but there was no reason why it should not be done. "If a low rate had accomplished its purpose it would go up."

There was no reason why the granting of a reduced rate on coal should be followed by reductions on other commodities.

It is bordering upon persecution to victimize poor people in connection with the operation of punch boards, while the agent or dealer is permitted regularly to visit the district, dispose of the apparatus and collect the cash and get away with it. If, as we have previously contended, the operation of the punch boards is illegal, surely the party who thrusts the devices upon our people is an equal offender.

Lord Riddell, one of the British delegates to the Washington conference who made many American friends while in this country, speaking at a recent luncheon at the Critic Golf Club, told this story:

The greatest hero in golf history was a Scotsman who in the year 1710 used to start playing at dawn and end by putting at the last green by candle light. Matters reached such a stage that his wife, an innkeeper, applied for a separation order on the ground that her husband so neglected his business that he did not properly support her.

The circumstances enabled the man to make one of the most pathetic declarations in history. "Let her have the business," he said, "provided she gives me sufficient to clothe and feed myself and provide myself with golf balls."
